York Mystery Plays 2010

Sundays 11 and 18 July, 12 noon—6 pm

Performances of the city's internationally renowned Mystery Plays are the highlight of a week-long festival of events celebrating York's medieval heyday. The twelve plays will be performed on waggons at four stations around the city, starting in Dean's Garden, College Green, St Sampson's Square, and the Eye of York (on the 11th); and Museum Gardens (on the 18th). The waggons will move through the city streets accompanied by music, making for a colourful and vivid spectacle. There is no charge to stand and watch the plays from any of the stations, but tickets can be bought for stations 1, 3 and 4, where covered seating/standing will be available. For more details, please visit www.yorkmysteryplays.co.uk

'Praise by the Bridge' Special with the Archbishop of York

Sunday 18 July, 3—4 pm off Butcher
Terrace near the Millennium Bridge, York
